WITH the opening words of our Alma Mater, we present our interpretation of the "Northern Star," whose words and music are unique because they belong exclusively to our school.

As we have tried to express it in this edition of the "Tatler," the "Northern Star" is a spirit which pervades every undertaking and activity of our high school careers. It is this spirit which makes us stand four-square against all obstacles, including athletic competition, scholastic rivalry, current national problems, and the uncertain future.

Because the "Northern Star" is the tangible symbol of the respect, admiration, and affection which we hold for our school, we have chosen for our theme the Alma Mater of Massena High School.

Northern Star

Unto Thee Our

AS a man he has been friend and adviser to all who sought his aid, giving his time and strength above and beyond the call of duty to fellow colleague and student alike. As a coach, he has commanded the respect and admiration of all who have had the good fortune to come under his tutelage by merit of his precepts of sportsmanship, fair play, and sense of duty.

As a teacher, his sphere of influence has not been limited to the gymnasium and the athletic field, for he has enriched the life of every student by his prodigal contributions to development of facilities for leisure time, not the least of which has been our winter sports program.

As a leader, he has shown his ability on many memorable occasions to inspire his teams and the whole student body to splendid heights of school spirit and determination.

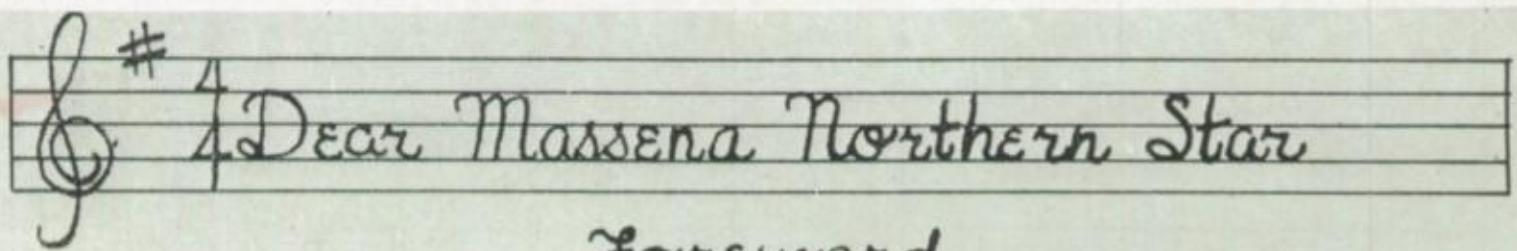

It is with a deep sense of gratitude and an abiding affection that we, the Class of 1945, dedicate "The Tatler" to the man who has the mind to plan, the hand to achieve, and the heart to inspire—James A. Long.

We of the Board of Education feel a keen sense of responsibility for the Massena Public Schools. It is our duty to see that an adequate educational program is given to the boys and girls in Massena. It is our duty to see that such a program is carried out under the direct supervision of the staff of teachers and supervisors.

The accomplishments of the students are the direct measure of the results of our work and effort. We take pride and pleasure in the goals you have attained in the past. To the future we look hopefully toward the difficult tasks you face and toward your solutions of the problems for which you have received preparation in our school system.

The aim for you, the student, is always to keep on a high level your school work, physical self, character and objectives, so that your part in the building of the spirit of Massena High School shall not be less than your very best.

Walter S. Wilson

The future holds something for the man who keeps faith in it. Look forward with anticipation to tasks ahead of you. Keep faith with yourself, your fellow man, and your God.

It is the hope of everyone that you do your job well, and that, in years ahead, the training you received and the spirit of your school may cause you to think back on the words "Ever guide us from afar" with real understanding.

Dorothy I. Hall

The height of the pyramid is determined by the breadth of the base. How applicable this is to your life! The purpose of your education has been to give you a broad enough foundation, so that, as you go out from school and build the pyramid of your life, it can reach heights limited only by your own industry and capability.

The members of the vocal department have given many musical performances throughout the year under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Anderson, who came to us as a new member of our faculty this year. She graduated from Syracuse University, College of Fine Arts, and taught one year before coming here.

The choral groups presented a Christmas program of solos, Christmas carols, and anthems. In the spring all vocal groups participated in "Musical Americana," a singing history of the development of music in this land of ours.

Girls' Ensemble

Boys' Ensemble

The Girls' Glee Club of forty-four members and A Cappella Choir of forty-three boys and girls met twice a week. Their choice of selections varied from light, lilting songs to serious compositions, from classics to modern melodies. During these periods they have worked diligently and have accomplished much. The Boys' and Girls' Ensembles, composed of nine boys and nine girls, have presented excellent performances which have been greatly appreciated by the student body and the faculty.

Fifty-four members, recruited from all grades of our school, belong to the concert band. This organization has achieved a fine record as the result of Miss Jayne's unceasing efforts and the excellent co-operation of the members.

Bell, Robinson, Stewart, Kassian, Sutter, Bennett.

The band repertoire draws upon many varieties of music, including waltzes, classic, modern, solos and novelties such as the trombone and drum duet which was featured at a basketball game.

The band performs on many occasions during the year. The basketball team receives a boost in morale when the band plays them on to victory at games. It has also played for assemblies. The radio program to culminate the Sixth War Loan in December was bulwarked by the band. This year other musical organizations joined the band in presenting "Musical Americana," a concert which presented the many varied songs indigenous with the growth of our country.

The concert band has established an outstanding record in the past and this year's band has done much to enhance that record.

Concert Band

Marching Band

Our marching band of forty-five members selected from the concert band is led by Miss Jayne, assisted by a drum-majorette and five majorettes.

On the day of our first game, the band bedecks itself in the gay scarlet and navy blue uniform and becomes a splendid asset to the school's participation in competitive sports.

But band life is not all a matter of inspiring public performances. Let us look in on a typical rehearsal. With a puzzled look on her face, Miss Jayne glances at her watch—7:57! and no members visible. 7:58! a few straggle to the band room. But then comes 7:59, and all corridors leading to 104 are crowded with band members tumbling over each other in their eagerness to reach the rehearsal on time. A peppy march is followed by sight reading of some new music. The groans, mingled with strange sounds of straining clarinets and saxophones, change to a happily-balanced band number after a few rehearsals.

The early morning practices bring the majorettes, as well as the band members, from their homes in the wee hours. They, too, spent hours of drill in preparation for their appearances at football and basketball games, parades, and concerts. In the last half of the year, these girls perfected acrobatic stunts as features for basketball games.

The band members have taken their responsibilities well, and, rain or shine, have been at the required place at the appointed time. The excellent leadership of Miss Jayne has brought the band successfully through another year, and a large measure of the success achieved by the band is due to her enthusiastic leadership.

LEAH H. JAYNE

The school orchestra is one of the fine examples of what Massena students have done to make Massena High School a more interesting school. This year, under the expert leadership of Miss Leah Jayne, this group has come into the spotlight more than in former years. Composed of members from both Junior and Senior high schools, there is a total of ten violins and string basses, plus twenty-two other instruments including cornets, clarinets, flutes, saxophones, and bells as well as a bassoon, trombone, piano, tympani, and other drums.

This growing organization, representative of Massena High School with its fine co-operative spirit and beautiful harmonies, has presented a wide variety of musical selections which vary from the semi-classical to the well-known march. Their repertoire now includes waltzes, tangos, overtures, and characteristic numbers.

A typical rehearsal starts with the "ping ping" of violins being tuned and the "gur" of string basses in the same process. Then the trumpets blow forth and the bandroom is in bedlam. When Miss Jayne appears, order gradually evolves and practice begins. All goes well until the music stops. The discussion which follows, as a brief moment of relaxation, comes to an end when once again Miss Jayne taps on the podium for attention. Yes, it's a vicious circle of practice and fun, but it is amazing how much these students can accomplish in one hour.

Participating in many more activities than in previous years, the orchestra played for assemblies during the fall with the first public performance at the Senior plays on December 7th. The first community appearance took place in January when they played for the Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

The orchestra took a prominent part in the production "Musical Americana," accompanying the chorus and playing for the dances. This was presented in April. To conclude a very active year, they played at the Baccalaureate Service for the Senior Class.

ROBERT BABCOCK

JOHN FOLEY

Valedictorian and Salutatorian

John Foley, maintaining an average of 93.7 throughout high school, has won the honor of being valedictorian of the Class of 1945. His pleasing personality and genial spirit have made him many friends in the short time he has been here with us, for he has completed the four years of study in three. He has achieved an honor of which the class is proud.

Robert Babcock, our salutatorian, completed his course of study with an average of 92.5. He has been an active participant in football and track, has served on dance Committees and numerous other school activities have had his loyal support.

In this year's graduating class there are thirteen honor students, excluding the valedictorian and salutatorian. These students, who have achieved an average of 90 per cent or above, are: Carolyn Wardner, 92.2; Shirley Jacobs, 91.4; Shirley Finnegan, 91.3; Pauline Creazzo, 91.1; Jane Cummings, 90.8; Douglas Cutler, 90.7; Wistar Hatch, 90.7; Walter Lewis, 90.4; Donald Duarte, 90.4; Charles Barbour, 90.2; Mary Jean Dewey, 90.2; Margaret Francia, 90.2; and Dan McCormick, 90.0. We take pride in this group, not only because of their high scholastic achievement, but for the large group which comprise this year's honor students.

Standing: Miss Tamblin, Mr. Downs, Miss Ramsdell. Seated: Miss George.

Class Advisors

The four teachers who sponsored our senior activities were Miss Tamblin, teacher of English three, public speaking, and journalism, and faculty adviser of the Northern Star; Miss Ramsdell, teacher of English four and in charge of properties for the Senior plays; Miss George, adviser for the Tatler and coach of one of the Senior plays, and Mr. Downs, our History teacher, who has been general supervisor of all Senior Class activities, including the ticket sales and publicity of the Senior plays, the football program project, and arrangements for graduation.

Mary Jean Dewey, Massena High School's second girl president, ably assisted by Wistar Hatch as vice-president and Walter Lewis as secretary-treasurer, led our class in fun and work. The high quality of their leadership was evidenced in the success which crowned every project undertaken by the Class.

Class Officers

Wistar Hatch, Vice-President; Mary Jean Dewey, President; Walter Lewis, Secretary-Treasurer.

Football 1944

As the leaves turned red, and the first frosts announced the arrival of fall, Big Chief Long summoned his mighty red-clad warriors to another warpath. After weeks of preparaton, Chief Long led his braves first into the mountain territory of Saranac, where his redskins won a great victory, and then into the hunting grounds of a great tribe called Potsdam, where the Raiders stifled all opposition and another scalp decorated the Chief's belt.

The next week the Raiders defended their own hunting grounds, when a tribe called Canton had the audacity to invade their territory. Aided by their knowledge of the terrain, the powerful Raiders added another scalp to their growing collection.

The following week, after a bitterly fought battle, the mighty warriors from Massena scalped a traditional tribal enemy called Ogdensburg. Following this battle the Chief put his braves through many rigorous test to improve their famed offensive technique.

Then one cold, dark, rainy day, as the Raiders journeyed many miles into the territory of the mighty tribe called Tupper Lake, the great Spirit frowned on the fortunes of our mighty warriors. For the first time in many moons the Crimson-clad braves tasted the fruits of the vanquished.

The next week Chief Long recruited some younger braves who had yet to savor their first taste of battle. The tribe rallied to defend their territory against an attack by a tribe called the Huskies from Malone. These new warriors had the blood of mighty heroes in their veins and upheld the ancestral tradition by overpowering the foe. But soon our scouts brought news of a large hostile force coming from a place called Gouverneur. Here again the young warriors proved their ability by defeating the enemy.

The great test was yet to come. At the council fires, elders of the tribe, bent on re-establishing the tribal prestige, determined to attack a mighty tribe called Watertown. So powerful was this tribe that it was called the Golden Cyclone. The ensuing struggle resulted in a stalemate, neither team being able to gain a decisive advantage. The home camp was a scene of great jubilation, however, for to battle on even terms with so powerful a tribe was no mean distinction.

All the great nations of the world are now involved in a great and bloody conflict. Many warriors once clad in the traditional red of our tribe have gone forth to join the fray and now wear the war costume of a great confederation called the "Allies." We pray that the great spirit will watch over them and bring them back in glorious victory once more.

Basketball 1945

For the second consecutive year, the Red Raiders, under the guiding hand of Mr. Carroll, reached the playoffs of the Northern New York Basketball League. Losing to Gouverneur 58-23, Massena was unsuccessful in her sixth attempt to annex the league crown.

The Redskins started their campaign in high gear by winning their first three contests—Norwood, Malone, and Canton. Then they journeyed to Tupper Lake for the most thrilling encounter of the season. Massena was subdued by the unbeaten Tip Toppers by a score of 46-44 in a game requiring two overtime periods.

The Red Raiders followed this game with a slump in which they lost six straight games, thus almost eliminating all hopes of being in the playoffs.

Early in January the team was further handicapped by the loss of three players: Ted (Legs) Musante, this year's captain, who joined the Army; Don Chapman, a former Manlius Cadet, and Malone Huskie, who joined the Navy; and Tom Haniffee, who traded his red and blue uniform for a khaki one.

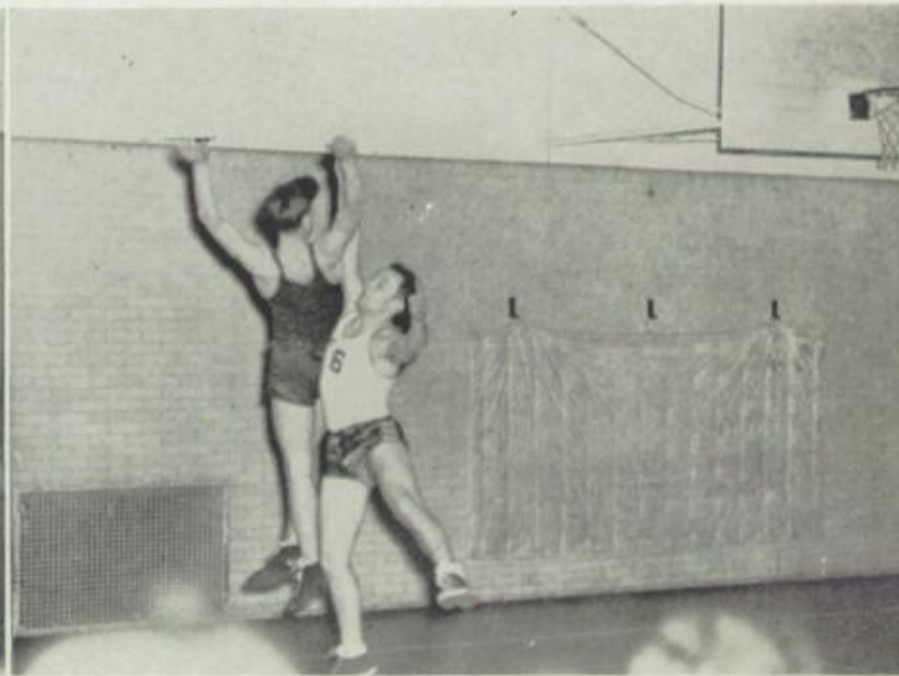

The still undefeated Tupper Lake invaded Massena early in February. In this game an inspired Redskin quintet played the best ball of the season and sent Len Perry's boys down to their first defeat by a 38-33 score. This victory spurred the Massenan-ites on, for they galloped through the remainder of the regular season undefeated, uprooting Potsdam from fourth place in the last week of the schedule.

Bud Hatch was the sole Red Raider to be selected for this year's All-Northern Basketball Team, with Ted Musante and Don Chapman receiving honorable mention.

The players who saw the most action throughout the campaign were Musante, Chapman, Smith, Kyrwanczyk, Hatch, Patterson, Lewis, Barbour, Haniffee, and McHugh. Others who saw limited service were Granger, Catanzarite, Bogosian, and Baratian. These last four were Junior Varsity players who will form the nucleus of next year's team.

The annual Junior-Senior games, for the benefit of the Red Cross, ended the season in M. H. S. with the senior boys triumphing 30-25 and senior girls following suit with a score of 30-17.

The 1944 track team, under the able coaching of James Long, piled up a very commendable record. When the season opened only seven of the fifty who turned out for track were lettermen, and chances for a winning team looked quite doubtful. But the prospect did not faze the Raiders. What a Massena team has lacked in skill, they have more than made up in determination and school spirit, and this team was no exception. They proceeded to take two first places and a second place in the dual meets and a second place in both the Van Dusen and the Sectionals. What is even more important, they showed what school spirit can and will do.

Lettermen—Bach, Baratian, Barbour, Bordon, Fralick, Granger, Hamke, Haniffee, T., Hatch B. (Capt.), Kormanyos, Krywanczyk, M., Lewis, Marlowe, Moroney, Patterson, Prosper, K., Robinson, Smith, Welcher, Zappia (Mgr.).

Make Room for Rooney

"Make Room for Rodney," a modern comedy, directed by Miss Cole, dealt with the complications accompanying a family's attempt to lead the daughter of the family into wedlock.

A lively interest in his sister's romances was exhibited by Rodney (Richard McHugh), whose ulterior motive was a room of his own. The solution of his problem is obtained through the combined actions of Josephine (Shirley Jacobs), a snake called Hannibal, Bill (Charles Barbour), and Lyman (Lawrence Lazore), who are suitors of Phyllis (Pearl Parrott).

"Thank You, Doctor," directed by Miss George, was a one-act farce of tense scenes relieved by explosive humor. The action was based on a mystery about a string of stolen pearls. The plot thickened when Mrs. Norman Lester, a very intelligent crook, played by Genevieve Baratian, tried to convince the doctor, Donald Duarte, and his assistant, Geraldine Duquette, that Denny Cort, played by James Demo, was her insane brother. Bud Hatch, disguised as a maniac, added much comedy and suspense to the play in his role as the detective who finally caught the real thief.

THE NORTHERN STAR

Devoted to Our School

Vol. VII, No. 4

MASSENA HIGH SCHOOL, MASSENA, NEW YORK

January, 1945

Hazel Tamblin

One of the outstanding ways school spirit is revealed is through the school's newspaper, the "Northern Star." News of activities in every field is published—giving the student body the latest information about school. Great effort is expended in the output of each edition, news is gathered, checked over, typed, sent to the printer's, and circulated. How is it so smoothly done? By co-operation! Everyone aids in this complicated job, and the result is the well-earned success of our school paper.

The journalism class, under the direction of Miss Tamblin, has contributed much to the advancement of the paper. A group consisting of Phyllis Bell, Peggy Derby, Beverly Jones, Joyce Forrestal, Carolyn Wardner, and Barbara Jenkins represented the "Northern Star" at the Empire State School Press Association Convention at Syracuse, in November, 1944. Constructive advice gleaned from this convention was applied to the "Northern Star."

Credit is due also to its staff and the supervisor. In a recent evaluation of our paper by the National Scholastic Press Association in Minneapolis, Minnesota, the editors of the "Northern Star" were told that the staff of 1944-45 had improved the paper considerably over previous years.

To the boys in the Army, Navy, or Marines, whether they are in the Solomons, Philippines, France, or the United States, the "Northern Star" is a tangible symbol of the "old school spirit."

BACH, D'ARIENZO SERVE AS KING AND QUEEN

Virginia D'Arienzo and Robert Bach, seniors, were elected queen and king, respectively, for the Massena Ice Carnival by a majority vote January 30.

Miss Virginia D'Arienzo, room 312, has been active in school projects such as G. A. A., Tatler, and the Northern Star. Miss D'Arienzo was chosen by the seniors from a group of three, Pat Griffin, Gretchen Hickling, and herself.

Robert Bach, also from room 312, is a letterman in football. He's in choir and Boys' Ensemble. He holds a position on the Tatler Staff also. He was chosen from a group of three consisting of Walt Lewis, Stuart Thompson, and himself.

Ballots were passed among the students for nomination. The above six people were chosen and Tuesday afternoon the king and queen were selected. R. Parker Downs, senior adviser, announced the winners Tuesday night at 4 o'clock. Bach received seventy-five votes and D'Arienzo forty-five votes.

These people were crowned regents of the Carnival Friday night, February 9, at 8 o'clock, on the Alco rink. Other students were chosen to be attendants to the crowns, who presided over the evening.

John Foley and Robert Babcock Receive Valedictory, Salutatory Honors of '45—Foley, 93.7; Babcock, 92.4

By RUTH LAFLESH

John Foley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Foley, Helena, New York, has achieved the honor of being the valedictorian of the graduating class of 1945 at Massena high school. He has maintained an average of 93.7 through his four years of high school.

anyone in grades ten, eleven, and twelve.

The purpose of the club will be to keep up-to-date on new discoveries and to work on projects to further the knowledge of the members. Miss Hunt outlined projects in Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Aeronautics, Agriculture, and other work.

It was decided it should meet after school every other Thursday. Another meeting was held December 7 for election of officers.

John attended St. Joseph's Academy in Brasher Falls until September, 1943, when he entered Massena high school.

COACH LONG PLEASED ON HIS BIRTHDAY

"It was one of the pleasantest birthdays I have ever had." That was the comment made by Coach Jim Long in regard to his birthday of Saturday, November 4, the day on which the Massena Raiders defeated the Gouverneur football team in a 41-13 win.

Mr. Long was born in Waterloo, N. Y., on November 4, 1910. He received his grammar school education in St. Mary's Parochial School of that town, and then entered Waterloo High School where he was a prominent figure in school sports. He was captain of an undefeated football team in high school, and captain of the high school basketball team, which took the State Championship in 1929.

At the completion of his education, which he received at Syracuse University and the University of Illinois, Mr. Long taught at Massena until 1937. Then he took a position at Manlius where he remained until he came to Massena in 1940.

The entire student body extend their appreciation to Coach Long for the guiding hand he has given to Massena High School sports. Many happy returns of the day, Mr. Long.

Stamp Sales

We have been proud to fly the Minute-Man banner below the American flag. Since October the right to fly this has been merited because an average of twenty-two rooms have achieved 100% in the weekly purchase of stamps and several other rooms have reached the 90% mark.

The students of our school have every right to be proud of the record they have made in buying stamps during the past year. "Often we accept routine matters without giving them much serious thought, but you have been called upon to accept a duty and you have responded 100%." This is the opinion of Mr. Wilson in regard to our stamp sales. In 1943 our goal was set at $25,000, but this year we have attained this goal in half a year.

Junior and Senior High girls this year volunteered to sell tags to the people of Massena in order to raise money for the Christmas Box Fund. Of the $275 raised, these girls raised $104.05. The remaining amount was donated by individuals and grade school students. The money obtained was used to buy Christmas boxes for the men and women in the service. No matter where the Massenans were stationed, whether in the states or overseas, all received Christmas boxes. Such support of this patriotic effort deserves strong commendation.

"And where'er we are . . ."

To those of our class who have proved their loyalty to Massena High School, and now are proving their loyalty to our country, we wish to dedicate this page.

A few years ago, they were just the boys across the aisles. They revealed their loyalty and spirit in different ways. Perhaps they were on the football team, or stood on the sidelines and cheered. Today, in all parts of the globe, they show that same spirit for their country. This year they would have graduated with us. We are justly proud of them, wherever they may be!
